

Weinig EasyScan+ series

The LuxscanLine EasyScan+ series from Weinig offers the latest high-performance technology at an affordable price. You get simple operation and a high degree of accuracy and reliability, giving you optimal production control and transparency in the production process.

Simple optimisation is the key to efficient production. The EasyScan+ can be linked with various machines including cross-cut saws, rip saws and sorting system, allowing a variety of qualities and zones to be created and combined into end products. Products and qualities are stored in the database and can be selected at any time, while logical user guidance on the EasyScan+ simplifies settings and ensures ease-of-use for the operator.

Overview and features

The modular design of the EasyScan+ allows various technologies to be connected, depending on your needs. The integrated laser camera enables detection of standard wood features on up to four sides. Colour features are recorded and reliably recognised with a high-resolution camera. Not only is it possible to detect blue stain, for example, it is also possible to optimally sort by colour features. Lamellae for glued panels, for example, can be classified and sorted in this way before pressing.

Sensors for curvature measurement and humidity complete the picture together with special mechanization concepts. The scanner features automatic moving cameras, for example, that position themselves automatically in accordance with the selected board width. This technology is unique in its design. Thanks to the modular design, the EasyScan+ remains future-proofed and adaptable to new challenges in your production.
